

This gift from me to you will provide crucial support for carers...

...like Emma

Around her 80th birthday, Emma's mother, Nancy, was diagnosed with mixed dementia. Eventually, Emma made the difficult decision to move Nancy into a home, where there was an Admiral Nurse, Linda. Emma says: "I sat down with Linda and told her everything. I could have wept with relief at her understanding and compassion."

"Linda was there for such key moments; seeing my mother for who she was and what she needed, supporting her following a stroke, then supporting me when she died and was finally at peace."

"Admiral Nurses' knowledge and understanding of dementia is at a completely different level, I cannot thank them enough."

£10 could fund an hour of training and supervision for an Admiral Nurse, ensuring they can provide the highest level of care and expertise to families facing dementia.
