We are Dementia UK – the specialist dementia nursing charity

Dementia can be devastating for the whole family. Too often, people do not know where to turn and are left feeling exhausted, overwhelmed and alone.

That's where our specialist dementia nurses – known as Admiral Nurses – come in. From sharing practical tips for caring to offering compassionate emotional support and helping families plan for the future, they are there when people need them most.

Whether it's via our Helpline, clinics or in the community, our nurses give families the much-needed space to talk to someone who understands.

Yet there are still thousands of families who desperately need our help. We urgently need your donation to make sure everyone facing dementia has the tailored support of a specialist nurse.

Every three minutes in the UK, someone develops dementia.

There are around 944,000 people living with the condition – and it is now the UK's leading cause of death.

One in three born today will develop dementia in their lifetime.

One in 14 people in the UK over the age of 65 has dementia – but it is not just a condition of old age.

An estimated 70,800 people are living with young onset dementia, where symptoms develop under the age of 65.
